March 2007

Principal's Message

Sr. Mary Leanne, inspects the renovation project.

In March 2005, newspapers, radio, and TV announced that due to low enrollment and financial difficulties, a number of schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit would close in June. Among the list was our neighbor, Notre Dame High School. From that point on, rumors about Regina High School's future began to spread.

History tells us that "girl-schools don't relocate...they close!" Many of us can name at least five or six schools that fall in this category! I did not want Regina High School to be another statistic. I asked the school's Board of Directors to consider relocating in order to continue the Mission and Ministry of the Sisters of St. Joseph of the Third Order of St. Francis. They knew that this would be a tremendous undertaking but they began planning for the future with a commitment to evaluate various strategies to make Regina a viable institution.

Since almost 60% of our student population resides in Macomb County, the Board hired a consultant to pursue possible sites for relocation in that area. In December 2005 we found what we believed could be the "future home of Regina High School!" Now we are making history! In July 2007, we will be moving into a newly renovated and updated school on 13900 Masonic in Warren. Regina High School places a high priority upon learning and

"It is in giving that we receive"

I know you recognize this quote from the Prayer of St. Francis, you may also recall it is this year's theme for the Annual Fund Campaign. I chose this theme because it exemplifies the Regina Community and is especially evident in the lives of our alumnae. As I watch the girls spill out of the classrooms and parade past my office during the school day, I think about the difference their Regina education will make in their future and the lives of others.

The Annual Fund Campaign plays a large role in making a Regina education special. It is the basis for fundraising at any school...but here at Regina it sustains programs and activities not covered by tuition. It is a terrific way for alumnae, parents, and friends to get involved and make a difference in the fabric of Catholic education. Your annual investment, at a level of giving you are comfortable with, helps us meet our objectives.

You may ask why is it necessary to solicit

Annual Fund gifts? Why not just raise tuition? It is necessary because tuition can not cover what it costs to provide enriched academic and extracurricular programs, as well as competitive faculty support. If we raised tuition to the amount it actually costs to educate a 21st century girl, very few could afford a Regina education. This year, we have the additional expenses of the relocation to Warren. Your tax deductible gift gives the best opportunity for our family and friends to support Regina. Your gift is a vote of confidence in Regina, and our faculty and staff, who do their best for our students.

Some of you have donated cars, and given to memorials or scholarships. We are very grateful for your invaluable show of support. Many have purchased raffle calendars, tickets to events, and fashion shows. Special events create involvement and volunteerism forming a bond of lasting friendships within our community.

In the next few months, a Capital Campaign will begin here at Regina. The campaign, Building Our Future, will raise funds restricted to the building renovations and

Meet the Faculty: This Edition- Ms. Gerard

Ms. Gerard, Spanish Teacher

When I was asked to write an article for this newsletter, I first questioned myself as to how to approach the article. I began to think back to the Fall of 1968 when I first began teaching at Regina and the events that preceded me having the teaching position. Actually, I met a former Reginite at Wayne State University when we were both in our Freshman year and we became good friends. During our Senior year at Wayne, she told me she often kept in touch with some of her favorite people at Regina. She then informed me that the Sister in charge of the Art Department at Regina asked her if she knew anyone interested in taking a foreign language position at Regina. I applied. The rest is history. Here I am today writing this letter to all of you.

As I sit here and write this, I cannot believe how overwhelmed I am with many memories of events and students. It has been so many years and yet it all seems like just yesterday. I sit here smiling as I recall myself as a first year teacher, being so small and petite and only one of a handful of lay teachers among so many Sisters! It took about a month before all the Sisters fully realized that I was a teacher and not a student. I remember a number of them approached me and asked me why I was not wearing my uniform! I smiled sweetly and explained that I was the new Spanish teacher. Some laughed, some were a bit shocked, but eventually, it all turned out quite well.

As the years progressed, I found myself teaching more than just Spanish. I taught ninth grade English. I remember how we acted out some plays and made them come alive. I was so getting into teaching that class when a few years later, I was asked to teach French I in its place. Of course I loved that, too, because I have two majors, Spanish and French. Both are similar yet so different. I really had to change gears the year that I was asked to teach Computer I and II for two years. I enjoyed that tremendously. It was wonderful to see the students when they were able to produce their first PowerPoint presentation. They truly had a sense of accomplishment and pride. So did their teacher.

Then came probably one of the most unique classes to teach – Study Skills. How does one go from teaching Spanish and French and English and Computers to Study Skills? Easily. All it takes is common sense. All the material is so vitally important, yet so basic to the success of all students for every course they will ever take in life. To say I enjoyed teaching that class is an understatement. I looked forward to it every day. A number of students, when Seniors, commented that it was their most useful and enjoyable class they had at Regina. Those comments make it all worthwhile for a teacher.

Many people think that teachers just “teach”. Wrong. They help, they guide, they direct, and they pray for much guidance, patience, and flexibility. I have had diverse experiences over the years with all of the extra-curricular activities for which I was in charge. I think the biggest challenge was having the National Honor Society with no co-moderator my first year at Regina. I then moved on to being the moderator of the Foreign Language Club, then the Sophomore Class, then the Junior Class, then the Freshman Class. If that is not diverse enough, I was co-moderator of the Drama Club for two years. You have not lived until you have worked with aspiring actresses, set crew, props, and more. Those memories could fill a book.

Yes, I do look back often and think of all that has happened at Regina. All those students who have come back to visit me and tell me how they are doing. I remember the laughs and the tricks students played on one another – or on ME. That is what made it and still does make it great. It is wonderful knowing that in some small way, I have helped students throughout the years by giving my opinion when asked, or simply just sitting and listening when they had a problem. There are many aspects to being a teacher that they just never teach you in college. I guess it is true. “Life is a dance, you learn as you go.”

Mrs. Robertson Receives “Excellence in Teaching”

Mrs. Michelle Robertson

Mrs. Michele Robertson, Social Studies Department Chair, was selected to receive an “Excellence in Teaching” award by the College of Wooster in Ohio. The award was presented at a Banquet at the College Wooster in February.

She was nominated by former student Alexandra DeGrandchamp, Class of 2006. Mrs. Robertson was one of eight teachers chosen nationally to receive this award.

Congratulations Mrs. Robertson, we are proud of you!

French Students Dine Out

Sr. Sam's Senior French Class

Seniors studying French had the opportunity to enjoy an evening of French dining. This tradition begun last year when the past Seniors went to the BooCoo restaurant in Royal Oak. This year the Seniors went to Josephine's Creperie et Bistro in Ferndale. Students were welcomed to invite their mothers to join in the evening of delicious eating and socializing.

living the Christian life and stresses the academic and experiential aspects of Christian living. Relocating means that we will continue our outstanding Catholic, all-girls, faith-filled college preparatory educational program, our fulfilling Christian Service Program, and our award-winning athletic program.

Exciting and yet bittersweet! Although we have been given the opportunity to be a Catholic educational presence in another community, we will not forget our roots! Our present building has served us for 50+ years but change creates new options and we will take our charism with us and continue to operate from our strengths and our Mission to prepare girls to become women of faith and vision in the Franciscan tradition.

Your participation in our first major gift donation campaign will allow the present and future generations of Regina students to enjoy the same opportunity you had when you were in attendance. So it is with gratitude for your past support and with confidence in your continued support that I ask you to invest in the future of Regina High School.

Catholic Schools Week Volleyball Game

Faculty and Students carry on the Volleyball game tradition

To end Catholic Schools Week and bring back a tradition that started last year, the Student Council sponsored a Student/Teacher Volleyball game. Last year the students won 3-1 against the teachers. This year, the teachers could not let that happen again. The final score was 1-3 teachers. "Even though the students did not win this year, I am so happy we are carrying on this tradition!" Anna Maria Paruk, Student Council President remarked. The Student Council hopes to continue it at the new school!

Making a Donation to Regina has Become Easier

Automatic Payment is an easy and convenient way to make your gift to Regina. We know you want to make a generous donation....but writing that one large check can strap your budget. Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) allows you to be as generous as you feel while breaking up your donation into smaller monthly payments — without any hassles!

For example: a $25.00 monthly donation, automatically withdrawn from your checking or savings account is hardly noticeable – but for Regina it is a $300.00 donation per year and a saving on administrative costs that means more of your dollars are put to good use.

Call the Advancement Office for more details at 313-526-0220 ext. 285 or visit us at www.reginahs.com
