Blessed Christmas & Happy New Year

Service Activities

One of the most recognizable aspects of a Regina High School education is the value of the Franciscan Tradition of service to others. In these uncertain times, it's clearer than ever that a healthy sense of Christian compassion and responsibility has widespread implications. It is the difference between hunger and satisfaction, chaos and security, the cold anxiety of isolation and the warm comfort of family and friends. Part of Regina's mission is to instill a living faith in our students that extends beyond textbooks and classrooms and into the world around us.

At Regina, there are a number of ways are students are encouraged to get involved with their faith in the community. All of our students take part in Christian Community Service. This gives them the opportunity to involve themselves in a variety of causes and organizations, to explore advocacy and direct service, and to build life-long values and character.

Additionally, organizations like Teens For Life, Missions Club, 4 Peace Club, Student Council, National Honor Society, S.T.A.N.D., Clown Ministry, Free the Children, the Campbell Soup Label Committee, and SADD work to promote Christian responsibility in our students.

For Regina High School students, service isn't just another thing to add to a college application, it is a way of life.

Principal's Message

We live in a world in which bigger and better and new and improved define our purchasing expectations. We are enamored by super sizing, super stars, high definition, texting, and twittering. We tend to look at life through a lens that magnifies what we expect out of the world while at the same time forgetting to see the potential in small things.

Advent is a season of hope. Hope that our life has meaning and possibilities beyond our present experiences. Hope that the limits of our lives are not nearly as narrow as we experience them to be.

Our hope is that you will continue to help us insure that our Franciscan Mission continues to be met and that our spiritual and academic standards remain high. There is new energy when there is confirmation that what we are about is something others believe as much as we do.

As the world changes, our school needs resources to meet global challenges in a multitude of ways. Given the financial challenges many of you face, I understand that not everyone can fully participate in our appeals. Our hope, however, is that all of you, will continue to support us in whatever way you can and invest in the future of our young women.

Advent prepares us for Christmas. The new year is not far behind. Both become a time for remembering, for giving thanks, and for appreciating others. Please accept my sincere gratitude to all of you for supporting Regina High School and may your New Year be filled with hope, good health, peace, continued success, and happiness.

God bless!
Sister Mary Leanne, SSJ-TOSF
Principal

Goodbye Fall...Hello New Year!

We have just finished a very busy fall at Regina! The school year opened with a bang, and within the first few weeks, we were right in the thick of it. Our Seniors made us proud with their valiant effort during the Powderpuff Football Game. "Smallest but Mightiest", the Pumas of the Class of 2010 played their hearts out and showed us how the spirit of sportsmanship, school spirit, and camaraderie can create sisterhood. While the game was ultimately lost, the memories these girls share will last them a lifetime, and the fans in the stands were behind them all the way.

While the seniors were busy preparing for the game, their little sisters were busy making the transition from "Newbies" to "Full-Fledged Saddlelites". It's hard to believe that the vibrant personalities we know now were the jittery strangers we met in August. They have settled beautifully into the rigor and responsibilities of high school. Of course, they get some help along the way. The Annual Big Sister/Little Sister Breakfast is a big day in the life of a Reginite. This mentoring program introduces Freshmen to the Senior girls who quickly become their voice of reason and experience, their best cheerleaders, and true friends.

Along with the support of their Big Sisters, the Freshmen also have the support of the larger Regina Family. The Dad/Daughter Welcome Party is one of

SADDLE NEWS...Transforming Girls

Volunteering

The importance of volunteering as a young adult is tremendous. Volunteering helps develop personal and life skills. It also helps connect concepts learned in school to real life. Volunteering can improve a sense of self-assurance, responsibility, and benevolence.

Volunteering gives me a chance to learn advance leadership skills. A noteworthy leader listens to others and assists those with problems. Volunteering also gives me a sense of being needed. As a teenager, being needed makes me feel better about myself, like I actually have a purpose beyond going to school. In addition, volunteering helps me establish role models, and advisors.

By volunteering, I hope to help bring people together. I want to destroy any barriers that can come between people. Hopefully, I can encourage a greater understanding of diversity by integrating ideas and abilities from all types of people. By volunteering I wish to inspire responsible actions and to help others embrace leadership roles in their communities.

Volunteering helps me aid someone in things they might feel they can not accomplish on their own. Even if I can only help by working out simple problems or just listening to someone, it makes me feel magnificent. Volunteering also forces me to test myself by causing me to try to do a little bit more every time. This helps me see how committed I am towards the advancement of society.

Over the years, I have participated in a plethora of service opportunities. I helped out at a soup kitchen and even volunteered at Gleaners Food Bank. On multiple occasions, I helped out at a nursing home playing games like bingo with the elderly. I worked at kiddy carnivals at a few churches, and Tricks for Trunk last Halloween. I participated in projects aimed toward cleaning up the environment, and programs created to raise awareness for these causes. I am a member of my school's chapter of Free the Children, which is an international organization whose primary goal is to offer aid to poverty-stricken children who are exploited. I also am a member of Save the Animals Now from Devastation, or S.T.A.N.D., whose primary concern is of the welfare of animals, from those in shelters or are homeless to those that are on the endangered species list. Furthermore, I helped distribute food to the homeless.

There is not an adequate definition for volunteering. Volunteering is much more than any words I can describe it with. However, I can say that volunteering helps me understand the importance of taking care of others over myself, which is enough.

Shantasia Bass, Class of 2010

Goodbye Fall...Hello New Year!

the first opportunities for the girls are able to see each other socially in addition to spending some quality time with their dads. Who could forget Freshmen Induction, the moment when the Freshmen are officially introduced to the Regina High School Community. By the time they celebrate the Mother/Daughter Breakfast and enjoy Freshman Retreat, they barely remember how nervous they were in August.

Of course, those events are only the beginning between sports clubs and organizations, the Regina High School's student body managed to keep itself very busy. Our Saddlites competed in Cross Country, Volleyball, Field Hockey, Golf, and Swimming and Diving, participated in AP Biology Camp, and raised money selling Lemon Chills at the University of Michigan. Our family and friends celebrated the unveiling of a new Donor Recognition Board and a night of fun and entertainment at the 5th Annual Dinner and Auction.

So what does this winter have in store for us this year? With Christmas quickly approaching, we will have Band and Choir Concerts, raffles and vacations, blessings and family to fill the rest of 2009. We pray that 2010 will be as warm and fulfilling as this year as been. May God's love and peace be with the Regina High School Family this Christmas and New Year! 🎄

Ten for Tech

Below are photos of History Teacher Debbie Biondo using one of our ten Smart Boards in her class. The Smart Board incorporates touch screen technology and software that allows the teacher to include information from the internet into the lesson. She's able to include music, art, and much more to make for an exciting day in the classroom. The white board allows her to use the technology as a chalkboard, but she can convert her handwritten notes into typed text, save the lesson, and e-mail or print it for an absent student. There's no excuse to miss school now!

Tiger Grant Update

As of today we have raised a total of $20,300 to meet our goal for the grant. Many former players and supporters sent donations and we held a Little Caesar's Pizza Kit sale for good measure. We are in the process of hiring a Landscape Architect to produce working drawings for the bidding process. Once those are complete we will send bidding packages to approved contractors. It won't be too long before we have a championship quality Softball Field. Thanks to all who helped and those who prayed for our success!

2010 Parent Volunteers at Powderpuff.

Mothers Guild on the fashion show, to help the Dads Club at powderpuff or organize a golf outing, you become an integral part of our organization. The more volunteers we have the more we can accomplish for our students – our mission. We contact you to keep you informed about the environment at the school so you will keep us in your thoughts and prayers. If you are a distance away or otherwise unable to commit personal involvement, we ask for you to pray for us as we pray for you each day. Of course you do get appeal letters on a regular basis. The cold reality is that it does take a village... and without financial support we couldn't offer a Regina education to so many young ladies. So, when the next appeal letter comes, whether it is for the Annual Fund, the Sweepstakes Raffle, Capital Campaign Gala, or other function – please open it, read about it, and then make a choice on your level of involvement.

Gratefully,

5th Annual Regina Auction, Dinner and Show

From start to finish the 5th Annual Regina Auction, Dinner and Show went off without a hitch. The plans began as soon as the 4th annual event was completed. The Committee, headed by Chairs Carl and Karol Berndt, worked feverishly to choose an entertainer, a caterer, and this year's theme. The Auction Committee headed by Barb Gervais, seemed to get gifts from all corners of the metro area – items valued over $30,000 were donated to our event. As the months, weeks and days passed, everyone leapt into action. Steve Basile organized the bars, Mary Chris Chapp was in charge of décor, Brian and Julie Souva organized the raffles, Sue Peters worked with the caterer.

On November 6th, The Committee who had already spent countless hours working on the preparations met at the school and physically set up the event. Tables were moved, set, and decorated, chairs were replaced with a more comfortable model, auction tables were arranged and loaded with an amazing variety of goods to suite every taste. Volunteers from two area Kohl's department stores came to help for their community service program bringing with them checks totaling $1000. Our RHS Cafeteria Manager, Mary Jo Czarnecki and her staff made the hors d'oeuvres and dessert. Over 140 girls volunteered their time for service credit and were happy to do it.

When the doors opened at 5:00 p.m. on November 7th, 330 Regina fans graced our halls. We offered them cocktails, appetizers, music by The Coachmen Orchestra, one hallway and two rooms chocked full of auction items, a delectable dinner by Zuccaro's Banquet and Catering, an after dinner show by the author of Late Night Catechism, and to top off the evening, we had Coney Dogs compliments of Bob Nichols and National Coney Island. If we missed anything, no one knew. The night ran like a well oiled machine and our guests left happy, though it seemed to go by too fast.

When the last auction item was picked up and the last Coney wrapped to take home, The Committee once again sprang into action. Where their energy came from is unexplainable, but tired as they were, they cleaned up every inch of the school. The last scene of the evening was The Committee, impeccably dressed, walking what seemed to be a chorus line, folding up the gym floor tarp. Sadly, no one had a camera. It was a pleasure to work with The Committee. They are a talented, fun group committed to Regina's mission. Heartfelt thanks to all of them. Thanks also to Pat Pompeo, John Monacelli and the custodial staff, the Advancement and Business Offices, Sr. Mary Leanne, and the faculty, for going above and beyond the call of duty.

God Bless All Responsible!

Capital Campaign Update and Donor Reception

On Saturday October 17, 2009 we held a Donor Recognition Mass and Reception. All current donors to the campaign were invited to share in an afternoon of prayer, friendship and thanksgiving as we unveiled the Donor Board in the lobby of the school. What a wonderful day it was! Special thanks to Mr.

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Wycech and
Mr. Mrs. Salvatore Messina

Peter Cracchiolo, for donating the Regina Chapel in the name of his wife Connie, it is a beautiful space to celebrate with our friends! Fr. Gary Smetanka from Our Lady Star of the Sea Parish gave a great sermon on service and commitment, our student choir, accompanied by Mrs. Julie Testori and Sr. Rose Sam, sang like angels, and our Cafeteria Manager, Mary Jo Czarnecki, made culinary delights to rival any gourmet restaurant. Brian and Julie Souva tended to the beverages and several Regina students helped serve and clean up. The energy generated from a group sharing in a single mission and vision was inspirational.

To update you on the Capital Campaign – Building Our Future, it stands at $1.2 million in pledges toward our $5 million goal. As you recall, the move to Warren left us with a $12 million mortgage, so building our endowment fund and paying off the cost of renovations with monies from the capital campaign will allow us to decrease our debt and insure tuition will not rise unreasonably. We would like all girls in search of a faith based college preparatory education to have the opportunity to come to Regina. Therefore, keeping our tuition affordable is a priority. The Campaign Steering Committee will be meeting soon to strategize on how to increase the amount of pledges and the numbers in our volunteer force. The extraordinary amount of work that still needs to be done has us searching for many alumnae, parents and friends to help complete the task.

Guest gather for prayer in the Chapel

Along with new pledges, cash gifts, and volunteers - we also need prayers. If you can fulfill any of these needs, please contact the Advancement Office at Regina High School 586-585-0500 x285.

We hope you'll become a participant in the next capital campaign event!

What happened to the Calendar Raffle?

With the popularity of cell phones, blackberry's and PDA's the 20 year old pocket calendar raffle was losing its appeal and popularity. The whole idea of the calendar raffle was the raffle ticket right? So, we eliminated the calendar, kept the raffle ticket and made some significant changes we know you'll like. First, we lowered the price to just $5.00 per ticket and then we increased the amount of prize money. There are 64 prize drawings – and your ticket is entered in each and every one of them. (So you could, if you're very lucky, win all 64 prizes!) The Sweepstakes tickets make excellent gifts and will be sold all year so you can purchase them anytime. The best thing about the Saddlelite Sweepstakes is that every ticket sold helps Regina High School fulfill its mission, and that's important because our mission is in demand.
